The Jensen Beach Fine Art & Craft Show has been held for 14 years in Historic Downtown Jensen Beach, Florida and is the year's first fine art and craft show of the region. The outdoor show has maintained an authentic art show atmosphere that is warm and friendly. Historic Downtown is the ideal place for one of the top local art shows of the season with its' art galleries, boutiques and fine restaurants.

A Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Event

The History

In 1966, local art patron and chamber of commerce board member, Dr. Richard Penick, wanted to showcase local artists by featuring them in a local art show. With the help of the chamber and local art advocates, they joined together to make it happen. The first Jensen Beach art festival was held at Langford Park in March. The festival was a juried show and awarded cash prizes.

The name of the art festival became the Sunshine State Art & Craft Show in March 1989. The show invited fine crafters to participate displaying their hand-crafted artwork including glass, photography, mixed media, textiles, jewelry and much more, and was held at the Jensen Beach Causeway Park. A highlight of the Sunshine State Art & Craft Show was the flying of the Mount Rushmore American Flag over the event in 1991.

The Sunshine State Art & Craft Show ended in 1994. For the remainder of that decade, and until the Frank A. Wacha, Sr. Bridge construction on the Jensen Beach Causeway was completed in 2006, the Jensen Beach Art League organized several local art shows. In the early 2000's, a South Florida promotion company brought an art show to downtown Jensen Beach and held the show on Ricou Terrace.

When Ronald Rose returned as President CEO of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce in 2006, one of his first objectives was to return art shows to downtown Jensen Beach. He credits artists from the Sebastian Riverfront Fine Art & Music Festival in helping him launch the downtown Jensen Beach art show rebirth. The current Jensen Beach Fine Art & Craft Show premiered in January 2007 and officially kicks-off the region's art and craft show season.

Set-up will begin Saturday, January 9, 2021 at 6am. All works must be for sale. Booth space measurement must be 10' x 10'. All work must be contained in the assigned space unless previous arrangements are made with show official. Each artist must provide an appropriate and secured display for outdoor exhibition.
